National Banks.

We have never advocated the National Bank system, because we do not see how it can be of benefit to the people at large. It may or may not be a profitable investment for its owners, but it ties up more money than it circulates. We have advocated a national system of currency, but we want it issued by the Treasury Department. There would be a saving of several millions a year in interest on bonds now owned by the National Banks, if the Government would issue its own currency in lieu of that now given to the banks, and withdraw that amount of bonds from the market. We do not believe the National Bank system, though lauded and fostered by the late Chief Justice Chase, is of benefit to the people, and we will endeavor to show our reasons. Let us suppose that a company in this city start a bank of one hundred thousand dollars capital under this system. They must deposit $100,000 in U.S. Bonds with the Secretary of the Treasury, for which they pay $114,000. On this they get in currency $90,000. Now, suppose they open their doors for deposits, and receive $200,000 more. The law requires them to keep 15 per cent. of the amount of circulation and deposits on hand in legal tender notes, which would amount to $43,500. So that the account would stand this way:

Capital Stock$100,000 Circulating notes...... 90,000 Deposits 200,000-$390,000 Cash paid for bonds.....$114,000 Legal tenders held...... 43,500 Leaving for business..... 232,500-$390,000

Now, on the other hand, suppose the company concluded to do a banking business under the State law, without issuing notes, with the same amount of capital and deposits, and we would have the following: Capital stock.....$100,000

Deposits 200,000 For business$300,000 In other words, the company would have $67,500 more money for business under the State laws than it would as a National Bank.

It has been claimed that the North had more than its share of this National Bank currency, but the Government withdrew some $50,000,000 from them, and held it for the South, but it was not taken up in months. If the people of the South had chosen to avail themselves of this currency, they could have done so. The National Bank in this city, we dare say, has had no trouble in late years in getting what currency it wanted, nor would the other Banks in this city, if they had desired to invest their money that way. If this system was particularly beneficial to the people, the Dawson Bank and the Bank of and research, especially in its zoologi-New Hanover would have procured cal and geological features. charters under it instead of under the State law, but it is not, and they wisely organized under the latter authority.

There is no trouble in regard to obtaining charters or currency. The South can have all it is able to purchase, but containg any manuscript thereon in a unfortunately it is still impoverished .-The capital is not here. If the God of the harvest gives us a prosperous season, our cotton and naval stores will furnish us with all the currency we re-

Great damage was also done in the town of Bellano, on the river Peave, fifty miles north of Venice.

Notice was given that the Government would present a bill for the immediate abolition of slavery in Cuba, and the same political privileges would be granted to the colony as were enjoyed by the people of Spain, The announcement was received with cheers. - Poor unfortunate T. B. Webb, who was caught in Brunhild's store last Friday night, came into court yesterday and plead to larceny. The scalding tears of anguish and deep mortification were enough to melt a heart of stone. The good charater he has always borne swept away at one stroke! God help those dependent upon him,

He was a native of this county and before the war had amassed a large fortune. He was noted for his liberality and charity toward those in distress. His gifts were many and large; and his death will be regretted by many friends. He will be buried with Masonic honors, having been a member of the order for many years.

The negro thereupon seized him and both parties in the scuffle dealt blows. Mr. S. succeeded in extricating himself from the negro's clutches, whereupon the darkey picked up a stout billet of wood and hurled it with great force at Stevens, which struck him glancingly on the forehead and so stunned him that the negro succeeded in pulling Mr. Stevens' pocket-book out of the breast pocket of his coat, and was making off with it, when this gentleman having recovered from the momentary stun, seized a fence rail and brought the robber to the ground, who dropped the pocket book and recovering to his feet fled. He was pursued to the Virginia line and had not been captured from latest accounts.

ALLES AND SELECTION

THE ALDINE.

An illustrated monthly journal, unversally admitted to be the handsomest periodical in the world. A representative and champion of American taste.

NOT FOR SALE IN BOOK OR NEWS

THE ALDINE, WHILE ISSUED WITH all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light and graceful literature, and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absoception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The pessessor of a complete yolume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any shape or number of volumes, for ten times its cost, and then there are the chromos besides!

ART DEPARTMENT.

Notwithstanding the increase in the price of subscription last fall, when THE AL-DINE assumed its present noble proportions and representative character, the edition was more than doubled during the past year, proving that the American public appreciate, and fill support, a strucer effort in the caue of Art. The publishers, anxious to justif the ready confidence thus demonstrated. The publishers to anxious to justif the ready confidence thus demonstrated, save exerted themselves to the utmost to develop and improve the work; and the plans for the coming year, as unfolded by the monthly issues, will astonish and delicht even the most sanguine friends of TIE ALDINE.

The publishers are authorized to announce designs from many of the most eminent artists of America.

In add on THE ALDINE will reproduce example of the best foreign masters, selected ith a view to the highest artistic successand greatest general interest, avoiding such as have become familiar through photographs, or copies of any kind.

The quarterly tinted plates, for 1873, will reproduce four of John S. Davis' inimitable child-sketches; appropriate to four seasons. These plates, appearing in the issues for These plates, appearing in the issues for January, April, July and October, would be alone worth the price of a year's sub-

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE, who pays in advance for the year 1873, will receive without additional charge a pair of beautiful oil chromos, after J. J. Hill, the eminent English painter. The pictures entitled "The Village Belle" and "Crossing the Moor" are 14x30 inches—are printed from 25 different plates, requiring 25 impressions and tints to perfect each picture. The same chromos are sold for $30 per pair in the art stores. As it is the determination of the conductors to keep THE ALDINE of the conductors to keep THE ALDINE out of the reach of competition in every department, the chromos will be found corcespondingly ahead of any that can be offered by other periodicals. Every subscriber will receive a certificate, over the signature of the publishers, guaranteeing that the chromos delivered shall be equal to the samples furnished the agent, or the money will be refunded. The or the money will be refunded. The distribution of this grade, free to the subscribers of a $5 periodical, will mark an epoch in the history of art, and considering the unprecedented cheapness of the price for THE ALDINE itself, the marvel falls little short of a mirrele even to these best little short of a miracle, even to those best acquainted with the achievements of inventive genius and improved mechanical appliances. (For illustrations of these chromos see Nov. issue of THE ALDINE.

A. H. STRASBAUGH.

The Plains, Fauquier Co., Va., Feb. 6th, 1873.

Mr. C. P. Knight—Sir: The Paint came safely to hand as ordered—two kegs, five gallons each, and three buckets, one gallon each. As practice was slack, I did the job myself. Two weeks, (not constant work,) completed the house two coats. The last coat I applied thick, and it is now generally conceded that for enamel—like hardness, and body, and harmony of colors, there is not a handsomer job in the place. I saved sixty-five dollars by the operation, which is an item just now with Southern people. It should be generally acopted in this State. Any country lad can apply it. I have never dabbled in such stock as testimonials, but I feel so forcibly the great adaptability of your "Fnamel Paint" to the wants of our people, in excellency of material, in beauty of color, and in the fact of its being "ready mixed" that I give you free permission, (if it is desirable to you,) to make what use you think proper of this letter.

Very respectfully and truly,

S. McGILL, M. D.

S. McGILL, M. D. Very respectfully and truly,

To THE PUBLIC—It affords me much pleasure to state that in July, 1871, Front Street Theatre was painted inside and out with "Bradley's Patent Enamel Paint," for which C. P. Knight, No. 93 West Lombard Street, is agent, and, to testify to its superiority over any and all other paints for similar uses. In no private dwelling can paint possibly be subjected to the very severe test it undergoes at this establishment, where, during our daily cleaning, soap and sods are constantly applied to it, and yet it appears as sound our daily cleaning, soap and soda are constantly applied to it, and yet it appears as sound and fresh as when put on. Of the numerous advantages it possesses over other paints, I will only mention its being mixed and ready for use in quantities to suit purchasers, its quickly drying properties, which saves much time in the execution of work were paint is needed, and its very perceptible tenacity, which imparts beauty and durability to the objects on which it is used. As such I most earnestly recommend it to the merchants and tradesmen of our city, believing it will give them greater satisfaction than they can possibly anticloate. possibly anticipate.

BALTIMORE, April 25, 1873. Mr. O. P. Kaight—Dear Sir:—The paints we received from you have been applied to several of our own buildings and to those of our friends, and have given entire satisfaction in covering qualities, in gloss, and in adaptability to all kinds of surface of material and we cheerfully recommend it, especially to that class of consumers who have to depend upon unknown parties, or painters to mix and furnish materials, wherein we have found the most deception.

June, 1873, until further notice:

Mr. C. P. Knight:—At the recommendation of a friend, I was induced to apply your patent "Bradley's" paint to my house. I have pleasure in stating that it has proved highly satisfactory, covering more surface than you promised, is more economical, carries better gloss than ordinary paint, and is freer from disagreeable odor. Yours, Respectfully, JOHN WETHERED.

BALTIMORE, December 27th, 1871. C. P. Knight, Esq., Agent for Bradley's Patent Enamel Paint-Dear Sir :- The paint we purchased from you we will cheefally endorse as the best of any kind we have ever used; its covering qualities is everything desired, drying promptly and with a hard gloss which must, we think, resist the action of all kinds of weather. This is our experience, and we can recommend it with certainty, and intend to use it on all occasions where we desire a goed job of work. Very Respectfully,
